Middleburg Hts., Ohio-based ASC offers its Java-based PowerLender loan processing system as a flexible loan origination software that can be customized without programming and can operate in both Windows and Linux environments. ASC updated the product to include enhanced loan pricing and eligibility; enhanced free-form note-taking; the ability to add electronic attachments to loan records; a "linked loan" feature to simplify the processing of loans with many co-borrowers; and enhanced disconnected processing, enabling an application to be processed without connection to a host LOS. ASC has also added a security capability that allows non-public data within a database to be obscured before it's transmitted.
